Description

The 4000BP in wall recessed blank plate allows the sound contractor to add a professional look to the mounting of volume controls, input/output jacks, and switches. The removable locking cover provides security for any concealed controls and switches.

Unpacking

The unit should be removed carefully from the carton and inspected for any possible damage in transit. If there is any evidence of damage which might have occurred in shipment, immediately notify your supplier or the transportation company which delivered it. Claims for damage sustained in transit must be made upon the carrier. Save all packing material for the claim agent who will supply you with the proper forms and give you the necessary instructions for filling out a claim.

Installation

The 4000BP in wall chassis has been designed to mount in a 4 gang electrical box (RACO 698 or equivalent). The Aluminum chassis can be punched to accommodate a variety of controls, switches, etc. When designing the interior of the panel, note the location of the cover lock so mounted components are not interfered with. Mounting screws are included with the unit.
